

The work of Christ

The sins of the believer are put to the account of Christ

The righteous life of Christ is put to the account of the believer

The believer

The substitutionary atonement

Jesus paid the penalty for the sinner by his suffering and death. God looks upon the forgiven sinner as having the very righteousness of Christ himself.